GLEE CLUB CONCERT GIVEN OVER KOIN

The Pacific College Glee Club gave a half-hour concert from station KOIN The Journal, in Portland, Saturday morning, March 11.

The program was one of a series of Lenten concerts sponsored by the Portland Council of Churches, and Pacific was honored in being allowed to present the first of these services.

The chorus opened its program with the anthem, "In Thee, Oh Lord" by Tours. This number was followed by a solo, "Green Pastures" by Sanderson, sung by Della Hanville. The third number was by the quartet, composed of Loyde Osburn, Dennis McGuire, Veldon Diment, and Eugene Coffin. The quartet sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes" by Salter. The next number was "Welcome, Dear Redeemer" by Franck, sung by Dennis McGuire assisted by the chorus. The next number was "A Night Hymn at Sea" by Thomas, sung by Della Hanville and Loyde Osburn. The quartet then sang "God Is Love" by Shelley. This was followed by a solo, "Out of the Depth" by Roger, sung by Veldon Diment. The final number was a negro spiritual "Go Down, Moses" arranged by Gaul. It was sung by the chorus with Loyde Osburn singing the solo part.

LOCAL CONTEST WON BY DELLA HANVILLE

Della Hanville won the local tryout for the Extemporaneous speaking contest, from Curtis Morse, the only other contestant, Friday, March 3, held during the chapel period. The subject of the contest was: "The Crack in the Liberty Bell."

Miss Hanville spoke on the topic, "How is Democracy Related to Constitutional Liberty?" She brought out the idea that we all believe in democracy, but do not agree on the definition of it. There is a disagreement between the rights of the individual on one hand and the rights of the group on the other.

Curtis Morse spoke on the topic, "How May the Problem of Constitutional Liberty Be Solved?" Mr. Morse quoted Jefferson's idea on liberty, which contained the thought that real liberty is attained only so long as we do not directly injure or destroy other people's property. Mr. Morse's suggestion as a solution for this problem was willingness to compromise and to give justice to everyone.

The state contest was held at Salem Friday, March 10. The interest that has been shown in this contest in previous years seemed to be lacking. There were only five entrants. Willamette won first; Linfield took second honors, and Oregon State placed third.

TREFIAN

The Trefian Literary Society held its regular bi-weekly meeting on Wednesday, March 8, at four o'clock in the afternoon. The meeting was held in the Girls' Dormitory parlors and was called to order by the president, Josephine Smith. After the roll-call the old and the new business of the society was dispensed with. The program was entirely Chinese in nature. The first number was given by Gertrude Roberts. She gave a short talk upon the culture, both past and present, of the Chinese people. This talk was very educational. The second number on the program was given by Marjory Lewis. She told us that Chinese music was very different from our music, being very thin and shrill in tone. She explained that the Chinese instruments are very peculiar and are also known to be some of the oldest types of musical instruments.

Doris Hampton gave the last number, which was Chinese literature. She told us that Chinese literature dates back to very early times and that the field

GOLD "P" CLUB INITIATES

The Gold "P" Club met at the gym on Saturday night, Mar. 11, to initiate its new members.

These worthy young men appeared at six o'clock armed with various tools useful in carpenter work and house cleaning. For the evening's entertainment these men dusted, swept, mopped, and disinfected the boys' dressing room. They also helped to do some finishing work in the new property room. The lockers were improved in appearance when the boys straightened up the doors and found some new ones.

At eight o'clock everyone took time out to go over to the dorm to hear the Oregon State-U. S. C. game. When they came back they started a volley ball game which lasted till everyone was too tired to hit the ball any longer.

After the games were over the boys were "lined up and warmed up." At the boys' dorm they signed the pledge and were received into the club.

New members are: Rex Hampton, Lloyd Baker, Willard Hehn, Elwood Egelston and Ronald Sherk.

"Apple Blossom Time" Play Given

Excellent Character Portrayal Is Enjoyed by Audience

"Apple Blossom Time," an hilarious, three act comedy, was given by the Freshman class last Friday night, March 10.

The story centers around Bob Matthews, played by Willard Hehn, who has run away from the city to get away from a girl who wants to marry him, but for whom he has no real affection. In escaping he had taken an auto that belonged to the girl's father, resulting in a search for him by the police. A friend of Bob's, Charlie Laurence, acted by Clayton Hicks, helps Bob in coming to a rooming house in a rural district. Mr. Matthews is to change his name to Mr. Clark, guardian of Betty Anne Stewart, Florence Armstrong, who has been expected for some time. Besides Betty Anne, living at the rooming house is Nancy Prescott, portrayed by Isabella Wilson, Polly Biddle, acted by Janette McShane, and Mrs. Forrest, Gertrude Roberts. Two of Betty Anne's friends, Spud McClosky and Mickey Maguire, played by Ronald Sherk and Earnest Pearson, from "Tin Pan Alley" come to visit her. They both want to marry one of the town girls, Malvina Kurtz, Dorothy Rish. Everything goes well until Mickey and Spud are introduced to Mr. Clark whom they know to be Mr. Matthews who is wanted by the town constable, Cal Pickens, played by Wendell Morse. Then things start popping. Mr. Matthews has started paying special attention to Lorneta Harris, Ruth Felton, but Betty Anne is de-

FRESHMAN CLASS GUEST OF PENNINGTON FAMILY

President and Mrs. Pennington entertained the members of the Freshman class at their home on the afternoon of March 1.

After Mrs. Pennington had completed an examination on the names of the freshmen which President gave her, teams were chosen and a very exciting football tournament was begun. The tournament came to an end with two broken eggs, a group of exhausted "Freshies", and a victory for the "Sham-rocks."

The football teams next proceeded to try their skill at jig-saw puzzles. The puzzles when completed told each group to sing an Irish song.

At the conclusion of this event President and Mrs. Pennington showed some of the souvenirs from their recent trip to Europe.

Later, tea was served. The dining room was beautifully decorated in green in keeping with the St. Patricks day spirit which dominated the party. Miss Sutton poured, assisted by the Misses Marie Gould and Berntha May Pennington.

After having had a very pleasant time, the Freshmen departed feeling that they had become better acquainted with the Penningtons.

LET'S WORK TOGETHER

We, the new editorial and business staff of "The Crescent," have accepted a large task in the form of a bi-weekly publication. The editors and staffs of preceding years have set a high standard, which we will try to emulate. We will, no doubt, make mistakes—we are only human. Constructive criticism will be welcome; destructive criticism is not good taste.

This publication is not a thing to be issued by those few persons on the staff—it is a school activity in which all students should do their parts; nor is it possible to have a successful paper unless the student cooperation is evident. We will gladly receive all contribution, and will print all that we believe will be of student interest and enjoyment.

If we try, we can acquire cooperation, and if there is some element in "our" paper that is not desirable, we will try to do our part in destroying that element.

ELECTIONS

Student body elections are over, and all of us are not altogether satisfied with the results. It would be rather queer if everyone were happy at the outcome of the election.

However, we believe that the student body has chosen for its officers, students whose abilities to fulfill the duties of their respective offices are unquestionable.

The newly elected officers are proud to have been selected to manage the affairs of the student body, and, we, who elected them, should give them our support whenever it is asked.

THANK YOU, "OLD" STAFF

We wish to express our appreciation to the members of the "old staff" of "The Crescent" for the help they have given the "new" staff in gathering and writing material for this issue. Without this aid, this issue would be almost impossible.

Congratulations, Freshmen, on the splendid play that you produced with the aid of Miss Carter! It was well acted, and you should be proud to be in a class that has worked so hard to give to an audience a really enjoyable entertainment.

AU REVOIR

We wish to take this opportunity to say "good-bye," and "thank you." For the opportunity and honor of editing "The Crescent," we thank you, the student body; and for assistance and cooperation in our task, we thank you, the individual students.

To you, the new editors, go our best wishes for success. It is our hope that you will get as much education and worth-while enjoyment from your work as we did. We hope you will get the best of cooperation and consideration from the whole school. May "The Crescent" and all its staff have "a bigger and better" success!
Sincerely, Della L. Hanville.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

When the governor of Michigan ordered a bank holiday in that state, he had only thirty dollars. That plight is shared by all too few of us.

John P. Klassan, a professor at Bluffton College and a former Russian citizen, was recently given the privilege of becoming an American citizen although he refused to take the full oath of allegiance, saying that he would not bear arms in defense of the country. However, Mr. Klassan said that he would be willing to do non-combatant work.

Judge Everett, who granted the professor his citizenship, said that although he knew his action to be contrary to supreme court decisions, he was willing to risk reversal rather than to rule contrary to his convictions.

The famous, or in some circles, infamous, Macintosh case is discussed again in the "Christian Century" for March 8. This periodical asks of its readers, "If Not Dr. Macintosh, Who?" and then goes into a description of the previous and subsequent history of the lives of some of the other one hundred and eighty-five persons admitted to citizenship on the day Dr. Macintosh was denied the rights of an American citizen, because he considered God above government in authority, and because he could not pledge himself to fight in a war which he would consider unjust.

In their investigation, the "Century" reporters discovered that sixty-eight of the new citizens were being aided by twenty-five public or private welfare organizations. Since poverty is no disgrace in some cases, the reporters set out to investigate further these cases and discovered that several of the people admitted that they had criminal records, and that the cases, according to the files of the Community Chest, ranged all the way from illegitimacy to dependence and the newly admitted citizens lived in unspeakable squalor and filth.

Are we as American citizens going to allow paupers and criminals becoming citizens by repeating a number of words, the meaning of which they, very probably, do not comprehend, take precedence over men such as Dr. Macintosh, who besides being highly educated, is conscientious and is willing to tell the court just why he will not engage in war?

Contrary to general opinion, Japan did not commence the tedious process of withdrawing from the League of Nations on February 25 when her representative, Mr. Matsuoka, stated that Japan had reached the limit of her endeavors to cooperate with the League in her attempts to settle the Sino-Japanese difficulty. She merely withdrew from this session of the League. It is quite plausible that she will later withdraw, however, since the League has not, and seems unlikely to definitely settle the difficulties to Japan's satisfaction.

Managers of the theatre in Washington, D. C., in which "Green Pastures" was played, not only excluded all colored persons from attending, except the players themselves, of course, but posted negro guards at all the doors to prevent the tragedy of some mulatto slipping in unnoticed—and we call ourselves a civilized, and sometimes even a Christian nation!

JUNIORS WIN VOLLEY BALL TOURNAMENT

Following four days of strenuous playing, the junior class finally emerged from the scramble as school volley ball champions. The Juniors won all three of their games with the other classes, while the Sophomores won two and lost one. The Freshmen won one and lost two, while the noble Seniors reign undisputed over the cellar with three losses and no wins.

On Friday the opening series was played in which the Seniors lost to the Sophomores, and the Freshmen to the Juniors. The Sophomores won in two straight games, but the Juniors had to play three games before finally beating the Frosh.

Monday evening the Juniors were again made to go the limit to win in three games after the Sophomores had taken the first game.

Wednesday evening the Seniors, strengthened by two members of the fair sex, made their last stand and lost to both the Frosh and the Juniors, after playing three games against each. In the final game the Seniors needed only one point to tumble the Juniors, but the Juniors, also aided by a member of the fair sex, rallied and finally won the game and the championship.

A mixed volley ball series will be the next sport event on the program.

terminated to show him who is boss. Before she tells him that she knows he is not who he says he is, she has one of the village girls come and say she is engaged to Bob. This breaks up the special friendship between Loretta and Bob. She tells Mr. Matthews that if he does not do as she wishes, she will have Cal Pickens put him in the calaboose. Cal Pickens is in love with Polly, the housekeeper, but Polly seems to want to have nothing to do with him.

The story goes on, with Bob Matthews getting deeper and deeper in trouble, till one day he gets a telegram from his father stating that charges have been dropped, and he can again go and come as he pleases. He gets even with Betty Anne, but finally decides to marry her. Spud McClosky and Malvina Kurtz are to be married; Charley Laurence and Nancy Prescott likewise agree to take the fatal step; and at the end Cal and Polly plan to be married. Interwoven in the story were small bits of comedy that greatly pleased the audience.

Between acts the audience was entertained by piano music by Violet Braithwaite; violin solos by Dama Daniels and Ray Hansberry; vocal duets by Marjorie Lewis and Ruthanna McCracken; vocal duets by Marjorie Lewis and Roy Hansberry; also numbers by a male quartet, consisting of William Meyst, Virgil Hatt, Bob Wehrley, and Clayton Hicks.

Let Go!

The lights in the crowded bus had failed and the passengers were thrown into confusion. "Can I find you a strap?" the tall young man asked a young lady at his side.

She smiled sweetly. "Thank you," she replied, "but I have just found one." "Good," he replied. "Then perhaps you wouldn't mind letting go of my tie?"

First Student: "I could hardly hear Loyde when he and Della sang over the radio."

Second Ditto: "No, and you won't hear him from now on."

I always lose an argument,
But when I get to bed
I think of all the clever things
I might as well have said.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES FIRST GAME

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the girls basketball team lost their first game of the season to the team from St. Helens Hall of Portland by a score of 39 to 2.

The visiting team moved too fast and with too much coordination for the girls of Pacific who, although they displayed plenty of ability, showed lack of sufficient practice to cope with the visitors' attack.

In the second half Pacific's guarding improved quite a bit and the Portlanders were kept from scoring with the same regularity of the first period.

Pacific's only basket was scored by Dorothy McMichael when she sank the rebound from a free throw for Pacific's only two points. Isabelle Wilson, Doris Kivett, Dorothy McMichael—

SPRING SPORTS PROGRAM

Heading the calendar of spring sports will be the proposed spring football practice, if the proposal materializes. If it does, let's all get in and boost for it. Spring practice would stimulate interest in football and would aid considerably in further developing material for next year. Pacific loses only McGuire and Baker through graduation and the rest of this year's team with the additional spring training should be stronger next fall than last.

Track is the next sport. With Sandoz, Hutchens, Morse and Henrickson, all experienced track men, the team will have a strong nucleus about which to build a new team. Several freshmen show possibilities as trackmen and with practice should show up to advantage.

With four of last year's tennis team returning and with several other experienced men expressing their intention to play tennis, the tennis outlook is bright this spring.

Let's all get out and pull for better spring sports!

EASTERN CEMETERY LAID OUT LIKE A MODERN CITY

Travelers in Egypt approaching Cairo from the east are deeply impressed with the striking appearance, in a sandy valley between lines of broken hills, of a seemingly opulent city, close-built with houses of varying sizes and dominated at intervals with great domes and slender minarets. They are, however, greatly amazed upon reaching the city to find that not a living soul is in it.

Such is the "Eastern Cemetery," or "cemetery of the Sahara," as this strange city of the dead is known. It is far more luxurious than many towns of the living. It has houses, streets, courts, shaded walks, and large, central buildings which are the tombs of the wealthy or great.

The principal structure, under a huge dome, is called the "Mosque of Kaithy," the tomb of a sultan. There are also the squalid quarters of the poor.

These cemetery homes often contain several rooms, all well furnished and decorated with beautiful oriental tapestries and silk hangings.

Then there was a fellow who when shipwrecked on a cannibal island ate the cannibals because he wanted a taste of native life.

of literature is very extensive. She gave a brief history of Chinese literature, and then gave in more detail an account of Chinese poetry, giving selections of poetry to illustrate various types.

This program was one of the best that has been given this year. After the critic's report, the meeting was adjourned.

CHAPEL

Thursday, March 2

Mr. William Oliver, superintendent of Newberg schools, spoke in chapel March 2 on education in Japan.

Since the Japanese people have looked particularly to the United States for her educational theories, her school system is patterned after the American system a great deal.

Japan has a compulsory school law for eight years of grammar school. Eight of the high schools in Japan are financed by the Japanese government. There are five hundred high schools in Japan. Entrance to these high schools is not gained by merely graduating from the eighth grade but by competitive examinations. About 20 per cent of the students who apply for admission to the high schools receive permission to attend them.

There are three classes of universities in Japan. They are: The universities of law, the universities of literature, and the universities of science. Each high school prepares the student for a certain university. The fact that their libraries are well equipped helps explain the rapid advance which the Japanese have made since that country has been open to western culture.

The method of teaching is principally the lecture method. The teachers do not organize their material well, and often do not present it within the grasp of the high school student.

The students often ruin their health because of hard work and poverty. They show an intense interest in learning. Strikes are not uncommon among the students. Since failure means the end to them, the suicide rate among the students is high.

In conclusion the speaker stated that Japan is taking her place in the world of education, at least in the Orient.

March 7

President Pennington gave a talk of which the main thought was that we should take part in our forensic activities. All cannot do things exactly the way someone else does them, nevertheless we should attempt to do them to the best of our ability in our own way.

March 9

Mr. Ferd Groner, of Scholls, and Mrs. Groner, presented some very interesting motion pictures to the chapel audience. About a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Groner made a trip around the world. Before the pictures he spoke about the thrifty, courteous, hard working Dutch, Swiss, Italians, and Spanish. Mr. Groner does not like the French.

He showed pictures taken in the Holy Lands, Egypt, East Africa, and India. The pictures of India were especially interesting to the students. Pictures of the beautiful and famous tombs and palaces were very enjoyable. The beautiful inlaid marble walls are some of the most wonderful work in the world. Mr. Groner had another reel of film to show about India, but it was impossible because of lack of time.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Sutton led the Y. W. C. A. meeting for March 1. She read Phil. 3:20, "For our conversation (or citizenship) is in heaven," for the scripture lesson.

In old times, colonists were sent out from Rome to establish cities as near like Rome as possible. We, as Christians are sent out from the kingdom of heaven to establish colonies here. Before we can colonize successfully we must be in vital contact with Christ as the head of our kingdom. We must be able to pray, "Thy kingdom come" into our hearts." In our school, we have a colony which we call the Y. W. C. A. The various committees and officers all have something to do with the growth and upkeep of our colony. We must not take the "C" out of Y. W. C. A., as some have suggested, or we will lose the whole purpose of this colony.

Rev. C. C. Rarick of the M. E. church of Newberg spoke on Christian character at the Y. W. C. A. meeting of March 8. He used the third chapter of Phillipians for the base of his talk.

We are all artists in that we are all building. Whether our finished work is a masterpiece or not depends on the use we make of the tools God has given us. We will never reach any higher than we reach for. The Congressional Library in Washington, D. C. is an example of where only the best was used and the rest rejected. We have to select and reject in the job of character building. A priceless violin is not really saved from a fire until it is in the hands of an artist. We are not saved to the uttermost until we are in the hands of the Master. We must let Him have his will with our lives.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting on March 1 was a worship service with the president, Curtis Morse, in charge. The meeting consisted of singing, scripture reading, prayer, and a short talk by Curtis. Several inspiring hymns were sung during the course of the period. The fellows enjoy singing the old favorites. Through the scripture reading and a talk based upon it, Curtis brought out some points on how to obtain satisfaction and happiness in life. Every one wants to be happy and to have a degree of satisfaction, but we do not always know how to enter into such an enjoyable state. Experience has taught that we need a goal—something to strive for. There is happiness in striving for a goal. Christianity provides ideals which are worthy of attainment. Hence, satisfaction and happiness will come to one who is continually pressing forward, with the help of God, toward the better and nobler and higher things in life.

On March 8, the Y. M. C. A. met with the Y. W. C. A. in the chapel to listen to an address given by the local Methodist pastor.

And then there was the wife who called her husband "Theory" because he never worked.

Just as if the yo-yo epidemic weren't enough—then came jig-saw puzzles.

Virgil: "I've never seen such dreamy eyes."

Marjorie: "You've never stayed so late before!"

MYSTIC CEREMONIES AT DANCE OF PURIFICATION

Japan, like most of the Orient, is a great land for ceremonial dances. A sword dance is given once in every seven years as part of a festival peculiar to a little island village near Tokyo. Here is a Shinto shrine, to which run long flights of steps, and the top of which is formed from an extinct volcano. Enormous red cedars tower into the air. At the summit is the inevitable shrine with its money box and many ornate lanterns and curiously designed decorations.

"The people take off their shoes and sit on the straw matting before the raised platform, which is the place for the Shinto priest. There are two old men, and one of them, after the gong had struck to command silence, took his prayer stick and prayed long and earnestly before the holy of holies, with many low bows," relates an eastern observer of the rites. "Then he arose and waved his stick over the heads of the musicians on the platform and over the audience to purify it. The prayer stick is just a round bit of wood, about three feet long, to which is tied a white paper symbolizing purity, cut in a peculiar fashion."

The dancer whose duty it was to terrify the evil spirits and drive them away seemed to the observer more destined to give the wide-eyed children in the audience horrifying nightmares. This dispenser of evil spirits wore an ugly mask, with long scragging black hair. He also carried a prayer stick, but his was a twig torn from a tree and on it were tied paper prayers. These he waved throughout his dance. During his appearance the drummer beat upon the same kind of instrument used in the Furuma dance and two other men played peculiar Japanese wind instruments, sounding much like a flute but much shriller in tone.

- Chorus

Professor Hull added immeasurably to the interest of the program by telling the stories connected with the folk songs and by explaining the various types of music.

Members of the chorus were gratified when Mr. Hull groveled publicly for all the dastardly remarks he had made in chapel about the quality of their singing.

"Country Gardens", a two piano duet by Violet Braithwaite and Prof. Hull, was enthusiastically encored by the audience. The whole program was quite a marked success.

Paying five cents a week for drinking water is the "depression day" rule in a certain eastern factory; receiving 23 cents for putting two hundred pockets in trousers and drawing 93 cents in a weekly pay check and paying out a dollar in carfare are experiences of two girl factory workers.

The Rivals

"Oh, I know a few things!" said the haughty senior.

"Well, you haven't anything on me," retorted the freshman. "I guess I know as few things as anybody."

Quaker five is undefeated during season. Courtmen annex fifteen straight victories to finish highly successful season.—Earlham Post.

DORM DOINGS

Signs of spring about the "dorms" are in evidence. Four pairs of new shoes, not all owned by the same person, a bird's nest in the hall, tennis, frequent strolls—and yet, contrary to the "spring fever laziness," Loyde has been getting up for breakfast for a change.

As soon as the elections were over, you wouldn't have had to go farther than the dormitory to hear about the many ills and merits of the results. We find that meal-time is an excellent place for round table discussion.

School and current events not only reflect in our topics for conversation, but in our actions. That is why we haven't been doing anything of "special" interest for the past two weeks. We have been too busy with monthly tests, play practice, assistant teaching, surveying, giving finger waves, and a few things like that.

Oren Winslow, a former student of P. C., was a visitor at the dormitory during the past week.

Week end evenings and Sunday afternoons are getting to be regular social times for any of the students who care to "drop in." There are always interesting things to do, i. e. jig-saw puzzles, anagrams, ring toss; or if you have something you would rather do, bring it along. New jig-saw puzzles are especially welcome.

WHO WAS A BUM?

The young spendthrift at college was broke. He was going to write to his father for money. This time he decided to write a little original to make a strong impression on the old man. He wrote like this: "Who needs money? Who needs money?" all the way down the sheet and signed it, "Your son."

The angry father grabbed a sheet of paper and with shivering hands wrote back to his son: "Who is a bum? Who is a bum?" until he got to the bottom of the sheet, and then he signed it—"Your father."

The chorus is going to sing again over KOIN on April 1. Now you can all laugh.—The Orange Peel.
